We had a dinner tonight at home for Ann and John Brown, from Providence, Rhode Island. Lord and Lady Sefton, Mr. and Mrs. Neurberg (from Bonn), and the O'Shaughnessys were there.

Peggy Hitchcock arrived about 11:00 o'clock from the United States, to stay with us. Nancy Lancaster and Virginia Chambers, from Paris, are also staying there.

November 8, 1961 - Wednesday

George Carey came to see me this morning. He has been on a long trip with Evie and Stuart Symington. George expects to retire [redacted] when he reaches the age of 62.

The Ambassador of Haiti paid a return call on me, and was followed by the Ambassador of Israel. The latter is a delightful conversationalist, and always interesting on the subject of the Arab world. This afternoon I saw Prescott Bush, Jr. Afterwards the new Ambassador from Brazil, Sr. Jose Cochrane de Alencar, came to call. He is a descendant of Admiral Cochrane, an Englishman whoimmigrated to Brazil, and founded the Brazilian Navy. He is a career diplomat, and was most recently Ambassador to India. He served in London as First Secretary during World War II. His wife is Swedish.
